Welcome to The Dirt from the Den, basketball style. As many of you know, we strive to provide you, the students, with the information needed to not only know your opponent, but also with a little dirt to get into their heads. In addition, you'll find the words to our school's songs and a list of UCLA traditions to make you a true Bruin.

As you cheer on your Bruins today, you are not just part of the game-day crowd, you are part of a tradition. Stop and take a moment to look around; at the record 11 basketball national championship banners hanging from the rafters, 11 of UCLA's nation-leading 99 athletic team championships; look at the court in Pauley Pavilion, the site of so many classic Bruin victories, which now bears the name of John Wooden and his late wife Nell. Coach Wooden led UCLA to ten national championships, seven of them consecutively, and is considered by many the greatest coach of all time in any sport. As a Bruin fan, you’re part of an amazing tradition. Be loud, be proud, and remember the UCLA history that surrounds you.

Backcourt: Even with the departure of Jordan Farmar to the NBA, UCLA has an extremely talented and deep backcourt. Junior shooting guard Arron Afflalo (#4), whom the media are touting as a preseason all-American, is perhaps the best player in the conference and will provide experience and leadership to a still very young squad. Darren Collison (#2), who saw extensive minutes last year as a backup, takes over for Farmar at the point; one of keys to how far UCLA will go this season will likely be how Collison handles the point, this season as the team’s quarterback. Freshman Russell Westbrook (#0) will back Collison up at point guard, and will also get action at his natural shooting guard position. The Bruins’ biggest addition this year though is not a freshman, but redshirt sophomore swing man Josh Shipp (#3), who returns after missing most of last season with injury.

Frontcourt: The catalyst for UCLA's success last year came from an unexpected source in Cameroonian freshman forward Luc Richard Mbah a Moute (#23). The now sophomore has come to epitomize Ben Howland’s style of play with staunch defense and instinctive rebounding. Mbah a Moute earned Pac-10 Freshman of the Year honors last season as he led conference freshmen in rebounding, and could, if his offensive skills improve, be looking at plenty more awards and accolades by this season’s end. Joining Mbah a Moute in the starting frontcourt will be Alfred Aboya (#12), who adds a defensive presence and plenty of energy inside. Expect sophomore Ryan Wright (#11) to contribute up front as well.

Bench: Barring injuries, which plagued the team most of last season, UCLA should have a deep team. Westbrook, along with sophomore Michael Roll (#20) will provide depth at guard. The most heralded member of this year’s recruiting class James Keefe (#13) should provide a productive presence off the bench for UCLA’s front court. If Lorenzo Mata (#14) can stave off injury, and once freshman Nikola Dragovic (#41) returns from NCAA suspension, UCLA will have plenty of bodies up front.

Coaching: Head Coach Ben Howland would be hard pressed to surpass the success of last season’s trip to the championship game, but many believe he has the talent this year to not only return to the final game, but take home UCLA’s 12th national championship. Many media outlets are picking UCLA to repeat as Pac-10 champions and to return to the Final Four, and the Bruins have their highest ranking at 5 in the Coaches Poll and 6 in the AP Poll going into a season since 2001-2002. Howland’s coaching philosophy of defense wins championships has taken root in Westwood, and with Howland winning the recruiting battles on the West Coast, i.e. Kevin Love, UCLA is back to stay among the nation’s elite teams.

It has been a rough couple of years for the BYU Cougars. In the 2004-2005 season, BYU went an embarrassing 9-21, and last season, they lost to Houston in the first round of the postseason NIT and called that a successful year. The Cougars are looking to rebound this year, but unfortunately, they open their season against #6 UCLA and will get off to an inauspicious 0-1 start.

With the first blemish on BYU’s record in over five years, starting point guard Rashaun Broadus (#1) was suspended for a game last season for “unspecified reasons.” The team really missed his 9.0 points and 3.7 assists per game, but luckily the towel boy was able to fill in the minutes and match Broadus’ stats for the game. Maybe we can talk to former players Michael Garrett and Ron Selleaze, who were kicked off the team for marijuana possession, what exactly “unspecified reasons” are.

Recently, BYU has faced some scrutiny for loosely administering study-by-mail courses to students. In a USC-esque move, it seems students with unit deficits or low GPAs are abusing the system by taking a heavy workload and getting easy grades because of the negligence of the study-by-mail system. A UCLA student could only dream of getting credit that easily.

All and all the Brigham Young Cougars have a pretty clean record. Either that, or they are not important enough for anyone to care about.

CHEER LIKE CHAMPIONS! Beat the Cougars!

Song Lyrics

SONS OF WESTWOOD

We are the Sons of Westwood, and we hail the blue and gold, true to thee our hearts will be, our love will not grow old.

FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT!

Bruins roam the hills of Westwood, by the blue Pacific shore and if by chance they see a man from USC, every Bruin starts to roar.

U (clap clap clap)
C (clap clap clap)
L (clap clap clap)
A (clap clap clap)
U-C-L-A Fight, Fight, Fight.
A more descriptive name for a USC student may be substituted here

MIGHTY BRUINS

We are the Mighty Bruins, the best team in the West, we’re marching on to VIC-TOR-Y to conquer all the rest.

We are the Mighty Bruins, triumphant evermore, and you can hear, from far and near, the Mighty Bruin roar.

1st verse:
U (clap, clap, clap)
C (clap, clap, clap)
L (clap, clap, clap)
A (clap, clap, clap)
U-C-L-A Fight, Fight, Fight.

2nd verse:
Go.....Fight.....Win.....Bruins!!!

Alma Mater sung at the end of the game:

(2 fingers raised & hats off)

Hail to the Hills of Westwood

Hail to the Hills of Westwood, to the mighty sea below, Hail to our Alma Mater, she will conquer every foe, for we’re loyal to the Southland, her honor we’ll uphold, we’ll gladly give our hearts to thee, to the Blue and to the Gold.

After the Alma Mater... following victory:

Rover

We’re looking over, a dead dog Rover, that we over ran tonight, alright!

One leg is broken, the other is bent, that we over ran tonight, alright!

We’re looking over, a dead dog Rover, and in his head there’s a great big dent.

One leg is broken, the other is bent, that we over ran tonight, alright!

We’re looking over, a dead dog Rover, and in his head there’s a great big dent.

(End song)
